

Robert “Bob” G. Brinkmann

President

Brinkmann Constructors

Education:

University of Missouri-Rolla

1971 B.S. Civil Engineering

1975 Honorary Professional Degree of Civil Engineering

2001 Professional Degree, Civil Engineering

Robert Brinkmann is President of Brinkmann Constructors, a company he founded in 1984. Brinkmann Constructors specializes in retail, commercial and industrial projects. Today, the company is a leader in the St. Louis building industry with a reputation of innovation and excellence. The company ranks among the nation’s top general contractors. Notable company projects include the WorldCom headquarters in St. Louis, the Forsyth Center in Clayton and The Crescent in Clayton.

Robert is a member of the St. Louis Commerce and Growth Association serves on the Board of Directors for Midwest Bank Centre, Junior Achievement and the Regional Business Council. He also serves on the Board of Trustees at Missouri S&T (formally the University of Missouri-Rolla). In 2001, he received the Business Person of the Year award from the Chesterfield Chamber of Commerce.

Robert earned his degree in civil engineering from the University of Missouri-Rolla in 1971 and received a professional degree from the university in 2001. He is a member of the Academy of Civil Engineers and is an Alumni Association Achievement Award recipient.

Robert and his wife, Kim, reside in St. Albans, Mo.